Julian... just found this forum... do you still have a scanned copy of the Breville Breadmaker BR1 available...I'm desperate! Thanks, Jill September 2011 check here: Jeco January 2010 I have a scanned copy if you still need it Julian September 2008 trying to locate a recipe book for the fan assisted breadmaker dawn coleman July 2013 where can i buy a paddle for a breville fan assisted bread maker cheryl May 2010 I have posted the manual for the "Breville Breadmaster" on my flickr photostream. The pages aren't great quality (scans supplied by Breville customer services) and are not in a sensible order but if you view/download the largest versions (go to "all sizes" then select "original") then you can view all the recipe information that you need. You see, the Sunbeam Smart Bake is an Australian model and the recipes are set to Australian measures. Australian teaspoons are 20 millilitres while the Queen's teaspoon is only 15 millilitres. Both the Goodmans and the Bush 625 bread makers are UK models. So is the Mellerware Ma-baker Pro. I've attached all three file to this email. Feel free to pass them along as you will.
